

Year 5 Blog – Week Commencing 02.05.2023: Crown Jewels!

Year 5 pupils have completed another exciting week!

On Tuesday pupils had the opportunity to learn about the significance of Saturday's Coronation. They considered the impact this day would have within society and why it is such an important day for the British Monarchy.

We then looked at the crown, Orbe and Sceptre Charles would be holding/wearing and had an opportunity to create our own crowns.

On Wednesday pupils continue learning about angles in maths. They were able to successfully use a protractor to measure angles and draw angles with great accuracy.

Keeping with the theme of initiations, pupils considered the importance of christenings and baptism within Christianity. They had the opportunity to discuss the relevance or importance of these initiation ceremonies. Pupils also considered why some Christians choose to have their babies christened while others wait until they are adults.

On Friday we celebrated the coronation together as a school, pupils had an opportunity to eat together and sing the national anthem with real enthusiasm. I know there is a great deal of excitement within year 5 for this weekend's proceedings and bank holiday weekend.

Pupils thoroughly enjoyed this session, they found it extremely insightful.
