

Year 4 Blog - Week commencing 15th January 2024

Making a Difference!

Year 4 have had yet another exciting week, continuing their learning during their 'Making a Difference' topic!

In Science this week the children had the opportunity to explore the different habits around the school. The pupils looked out for different insects and animals describing their habitat conditions and what they need to survive.

In Geography this week, Year 4 learnt about landfill sites and how they affect climate change. They were fascinated to learn about how methane was released when we dispose of our litter and how it contributes to global warming. The pupils came up with new innovative ideas of how we could stop some of the negative side effects they cause.

In English this week, the children have begun their writing to inform unit. They have been learning about the different literary devices used in a non-fiction text such as facts and statistics and will be using these to inform their reader about endangered animals. Year 4 were shocked to hear how many animals have become endangered and are at risk of extinction due to climate change and the loss of their habitats.
