

Week Commencing 09.01.23: Making a difference!

This week in year 4 we have started our new topic, make a difference. We have been so interested in all the astonishing facts we have found out so far!

We started the week with our fabulous hook day! During this we got to create our very own protest boards campaigning to save the planet. We thought of a powerful, clear message to write on the board and then decorated it with pictures - they looked absolutely fantastic!

We got to continue our creativity and make some origami fish as part of our hook day too to add to our corridor displays.

We started our new science topic this week, living things and their habitats. To begin this, we looked at MRS GREN which is the 7 things that something must do in order to be classed as a living thing. We used this knowledge to create a poster on one of the 7 categories.

Miss Roberts, Miss Cartwright and Mrs James have been incredible impressed with how brilliantly all the children have settled back in after the Christmas break and how enthusiastic they have been to start our new topic!
