

Year 6 Blog – week commencing 13th May 2024

SATs tests are over!

Wow... The children have absolutely blown us away this week! They have been incredibly resilient and hard-working and we could not have asked for any more from them. As a school and year group team, we are extremely proud of them and hope that they are proud of the confidence they have built this year in their subjects.

After SATs, the children were surprised with the unveiling of this year's end of year production.... One which many of them have anticipated and looked forward to this year.

In PE today, the children had loads of fun playing football and rounders on the field. The children were able to relax and have fun with their friends after such great effort in their SATs.

Once again, I would just like to say how proud the Year 6 team are of the Year 6 children, they have been amazing this week. Hopefully they can now relax and have a great weekend!
