

Year 6 Blog – week commencing 11th December 2023

The Christmas Truce

This week in Year 6 we have been working very hard in our Writing lessons, the children have been writing their letters home to their loved ones from the trenches on The Western Front. The children have been including their experiences of The Christmas Truce using strong emotive language.

In Reading the children have been retrieving information from 'A Christmas Carol' and answering inference questions interpreting what the text means, what messages the author is sharing with their audience.

In Maths the children have been working very hard following assessment week with fast paced lessons focusing on arithmetic, ratios and even some covering Algebra! Really well done to all of Year 6 for showing great resilience in their Maths lessons.

In computing the children analysed their party planning data in the form of Pie charts, the children have worked really well together and individually!

The children have had many activities this week leading up to Christmas, including making their very own Christingles (which by now might be on display in your windows at home). The children also participated brilliantly in the Haven House elf run as a whole year group and an amazing effort was put in by all.
