

Year 6 Blog – Week Commencing 09/06/2023: Writing Moderation – Complete!

In English we have been gathering lots of writing evidence and we have seen some amazingly creative work. We have enjoyed reading the diary entries based on a clip where a child becomes a doll and their setting descriptions based on the moon of Pandora from Avatar. The children were drawing on their memories of the fuel tanker fire on Sadlers Farm Roundabout to write newspaper reports yesterday. We are really proud of the quality of the work they have produced – they have really showcased their learning from the last 4 years.

We were excited to be able to announce the main cast for our Lion King production. It was such a difficult choice because there were some many amazing auditions, with so much talent. We can't wait for the auditions to get fully underway. We will be working out the other roles for runners, tech team, props and make-up soon and are excited to have everyone involved as every part is essential to allow the show to go on.

In math's, we have been revisiting areas we feel the children may need to use more in secondary school and in life in general. This week we have been focusing on data and analyzing graphs.

We have been learning songs for the production in music this week, we need to be perfect for the show and there are some tricky songs in The Lion King that will require a lot of rehearsal.

In PE we had a fun afternoon with a football rounders tournament – a nice change to incorporate two very popular sports. We are finding team work is improving as we go along. It is lovely to see the encouragement they are giving their peers.

Well done to our year 6 golfers and rounders players who took part in tournaments this week!
