

Year 6 Blog – Week commencing 20.02.23: Pancake Tossing, productions and new writing!

In English this week, year 6 have focused on the tsunami and earthquake that happened in Japan in 2011, they have become excellent broadcasters, utilising new techniques such as passive and active voice to inform their viewers of the devastation.

In Maths, the children have been focusing on percentages and how to solve them using 1 and multi-step methods. They also marked arithmetic tests completed by Mrs Archer (with common mistakes!). The children enjoyed working out whether Mrs Archer was correct or not. This helped the children to show how some mistakes can happen when solving maths problems.

In Music this week, the children are going back in time to when the 1920's jazz genre began, they are learning the melody to the Bacharach Norak and will be adding lyrics to the song in musical groups!

The children also competed against each other to see who could flip the most pancakes! It is safe to say the children thoroughly enjoyed it, but the teachers didn't enjoy cleaning up afterwards.

On Thursday morning, the children enjoyed watching the show Oliver Twist that a local production group put on for them! There was lots of singing, clapping and joining in from the children!

All in all, we have had a great first week back, have a lovely weekend.
