

Year 3 Blog - Week commencing 02.05.2023: Celebrating the King's Coronation

This week Year 3 have been enjoying taking part in some activities based on the King's coronation this upcoming weekend. The children have been learning about what happens at the coronation and have made some crowns and flags which they used at the Coronation celebrations that took place today with the children from the Infant's school. Look on the whole school blog for some pictures.

The week the children have also been learning more about the Mayan's and how they lived. They added what they had learnt to their double page spreads in their learning journals.

We hope that everyone enjoys the long Bank holiday weekend and has fun celebrating the King's coronation.
